The Harmonic Presence work of contemplative teacher and composer-singer David Hykes includes the wondrous "music of the spheres" called Harmonic Chant, as well as teachings and practices about deep listening, attunement, and profound harmonization.

The work is the fruit of David's 35 years of research, experiences and discoveries as both a pioneer of contemporary sacred music and devoted student of the world's wisdom traditions. From collaborations within eastern traditions with His Holiness the Dalai Lama, the Gyuto and Gyume monks of Tibet, and other spiritual luminaries, to decades of retreats and concerts in cathedrals and music festivals throughout the world, David shares the integral knowledge of the Harmonic Chant lineage practices he founded in New York in 1975 with his legendary group, The Harmonic Choir. He was Artist-in-Residence for ten years at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York with the group. Since 1980 he leads Harmonic Presence contemplative retreats all over the world. His work relating music, meditation, mind, and healing has led to collaboration with the neuroscientists and contemplative practitioners of the Dalai Lama's Mind and Life Institute and awards from the National Endowment for the Arts, UNESCO, and the Rockefeller Foundation, for his work developing a global contemplative music of our time.

"David Hykes has opened a new dimension in music; he has in fact brought us the music of the spheres..."

...It is a wondrous sound, which would, as I always say, be appropriate for landing on the moon or Mars...and must make every listener feel humble and yet part of the great System."

Besides the collaborations with His Holiness the Dalai Lama and the Gyuto and Gyume Monks, he has composed music for many films about the sacred, including "Travellers and Magicians" by Dzongsar Khyentse Rinpoché, "Journey Into Buddhism," by John Bush, "Baraka" by Ron Fricke, and "Meetings with Remarkable Men," by Peter Brook. His 12 albums include "Hearing Solar Winds," the most popular vocal overtone album of all time, with over 300,000 copies sold (and newly available in a 25th anniversary special edition).

The harmonic echoes of the Big Bang resound everywhere to this very day; cosmology calls them the cosmic microwave background radiation, or CMBR. They can be related to the harmonics of musical sound, thanks to "the Law of Octaves." Thus these outer harmonics of the outer world, the "music of the spheres," can be found "in the beginning." The harmonics of Being --inner harmonics-- are another matter altogether.

The harmonics of Being, of consciousness, from where do they arise? All these octaves --levels, qualities, aspects-- of thought, feeling, sensation-- from what sphere do they arise? How to hear and attune to that original source of awareness, where something stirred and all these wave-like movements began? It has all come to life... so, how to attune to, how to hear and to know the real nature of these endless waves and cycles, the rise and fall through all the octaves of life? How to go "beyond, beyond," and discover how our deepest listening can bring us to light at the heart of the matter? In a way, Harmonic Chant is the music of the spheres of listening, right here on Earth, a music that's been playing everywhere since the Beginning. Harmonic Chant is based on the nondual nature of musical sound and listening. Every musical sound we make or sing is in essence nothing other than the blend of pure primordial harmonics, ringing in our listening like bells of Awakening. Harmonic Chant gives life and creative expression here on Earth to this cosmic music, accessible to all-- and often beautiful beyond words.

The Harmonic Presence work explores the relationships between sacred sound, contemplative practice, and the medicine of healing harmonization. The work can help us learn to cultivate the deepest harmonics of our being, such as compassion, good will and service to others, love, tolerance, generosity and kindness. In facing this life's incredible challenges, we can find more humility, courage, and understanding. We can learn to recognize four great possibilities present in almost every moment of life: Listening, Attunement, Harmonization, and Accompaniment. We can become better and better "first responders" in the present moment.

David Hykes' s retreats in France take place at Pommereau, the Foundation's rural center, a 12th century former Cistercian site with a 12-acre park and national forest all around just 90 minutes from Paris.
